

Maybe Next Year

I sobered up in September of 1982. Immediately I began worrying about how I was going to get through Thanksgiving and Christmas with my family, without my reliable crutch of the previous 25 years. Habitually, my father and I would get drunk at holiday get-togethers and end up with hurtful words in both directions. The booze always helped me get through the day. I especially remember agonizing about my office Christmas party. I always had a great time at this annual event—at which I got totally hammered, of course—and then I could chat, laugh, dance, and close out the evening with inappropriate behavior with inappropriate people.

From day one in AA, I attended three meetings a day, beginning with the 7:30 A.M. Mustard Seed meeting—now my home group—just two blocks from my apartment in New York City. One morning at that meeting, I voiced my concerns about my office party, and the advice I got was, “Don’t go this year.”

Not go? What? How could I not go? I was the life of the party. “Don’t go,” they repeated, ignoring my concerns about all the questions I would get from my drinking buddies at work. I didn’t want my coworkers to know that I was in AA, at least not yet.

When December arrived, Sally, our office secretary, started making the rounds at work, clipboard in hand, asking, “Will you be coming to the Christmas party? Bringing a guest?” I had my fictional story all prepared. Instead of going to the office party, I would be going to a family event that I simply couldn’t get out of. So I said, “No, I won’t be able to make it this year, because...”

Sally cut me off. “OK, maybe next year,” she said and moved on to the next desk. Sally didn’t urge me to attend. She didn’t say, “Why not?” or “But you have to come!” The good news was that I didn’t have to lie my way through an invented excuse. The bad news was that she couldn’t care less whether I came to the party. I was crushed. What a lesson in humility.

As reality set in, I had more lessons like this both at work and at home. I was not the star of anyone’s team. I was not chosen for the employee-of-the-year award. I was not everyone’s favorite. In the end, I stayed sober and life got easier and easier as I settled into just being “another bozo on the bus.” Thanks again AA, for another eye-opening life lesson!

Community News

Once again a HUGE THANK YOU to the Gratitude Dinner planning committee. Our net proceeds were over $11,000; over $9000 from the cake auction.

The Alkathon is coming up, starting New Year's Eve after the 11:00 am New Life meeting at the Triangle Club. Meetings will be held all night long, ending with the New Life group on New Year's day. Coffee is provided without charge. Rent is covered by Intergroup and the Eye Opener group. Our sincere gratitude for Eye Opener's steadfast support.

Service is critical to ongoing sobriety. Please consider standing for a position at Intergroup. We still need an Alternate Chairperson, Alternate Phone Committee Chair and Alternate Webmaster. One year sobriety is recommended. Attendance at Intergroup monthly meetings is required.

The Intergroup office can always use more help. Volunteers need a minimum of two year's sobriety. They work at least one shift (3 hours) per month on the Intergroup schedule. Meet new people and be of service. Email me if interested.

SALE

SALE

SALE

Intergroup is having a sale on a few items. We have increased stock of the Alcoholics Anonymous First Edition facsimile for a special price of $5.00 each. These usually sell for $13.75. What a great gift for someone in recovery! Other items on sale include the Service Manual, pocket size 12&12 and Big Book, and the gift edition of the 12&12. All are on sale for $5.00 each. We're working on sale prices for all soft cover Grapevine books. Stop by Intergroup to see what we come up with.

The Intergroup office will be closed on Christmas, Monday, 12/25/23, and New Year's, Monday 01/01/24.

Happy Holidays!

In grateful service,

AO (gainesville.intergroup@gmail.com)

Hello friends!

Those of us who serve the Alcoholics in District 14 would like to take this time to thank those groups who heard the call that contributions had dropped significantly since we changed over to checks and money orders. Thank you so much for funding the efforts of our committees who serve the still suffering alcoholics in Gainesville and surrounding areas. This month, we will be discussing two important items from GSO: a) a Call for Story submission by a North American Native American alcoholic and b) the literature price drop (10% off for both Big Books and 12 & 12's) in time for Holiday gift-giving. Plus, the Big Book Facsimile Edition is only $3.00! (regularly $12). More information is available at aa.org. Our next Area Assembly for North Florida is on January 5-7th at the Hovey-in-the-Hills Mission Inn. Everyone is welcome! (However, only GSRs and DCMS and/or their alternates can vote at the business meeting.) Here's a special wish and prayer that your holiday season is a safe, warm, loving and sober one!

In loving service,
EC, DCM for District 14
